The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE-NAMED ASSOCIATION are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone's throw of St. Mary's College.

The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade. It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association; Lester L. Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company, is the Treasurer, and Thomas H. Lewis, formerly of Portland, Secretary, and

AGENCIES,

Have been established in Portland, Oregon, and Virginia City, Nevada.

The Capital Stock is $1,000,000, in 10,000 shares of $100 each, of which $10 per share is payable on subscription, $10 per share in thirty days, and $80 per share in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $20 has been made.

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. L. PARRISH & CO.

PIONEER WASHER.
JAMES BRUSIE,
AGENT FOR OREGON AND WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

THIS CELEBRATED WASHING MACHINE IS now for the first time introduced to the Oregon public. It is unrivalled for its simplicity, durability and the rapidity and ease of its action. Washing the dirt out of clothes perfectly clean in from five to ten minutes, with but slight labor, and lasting, with proper care, for ten years. The wear and tear of clothing in washing by this machine is vastly less than by any other known process of washing. It is easily worked by one person.

This Machine captured the Special Premium at the California State Fair, and all that have used it pronounce it an invaluable adjunct to aid housekeepers and families and washing men and washing women.

It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.

The undersigned is now in the city of Portland, where he can be seen at Mr O. Kilbourn's Store, corner of Front and Yamhill Sts., East side, Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29, 1867.

The close of the extra session of the Senate gives Washington its accustomed summer quiet. Nothing is left here now but the President and the Departments, and as the process of reconstruction goes on at the South I cannot see that there is any prospect for an excitement. The only possibility of one is in the prospective journey of the President down to North Carolina in the early summer. Seward means to keep his mouth shut (Johnson's mouth, I mean), but he will not succeed, and if he gets to talking Andy Johnson will play the brute, just as he did last summer when he went West. At the present moment the President is so far reconciled to the reconstruction going on at the South that he advises prominent Southerners who visit him to go on under the Reconstruction Act and elect members of Congress. I have good evidence of this, and whatever turn he may take hereafter am satisfied that now he is in favor of the immediate reorganization of the South, though steadily protesting against the constitutionality of the law itself.

But I began with an allusion to the Senate. It closed the session with considerable "unfinished business." A number of offices was left vacant, and the Postmaster General does not know what to do with this class of offices in his department, as the law is silent. Deputies have no power to run offices under the tenure of office act in the Post Office Department though they have in other departments. The Postmaster General is good natured, and is trying to find power to run those offices which seem to be closed under the act.

The Senate got a good deal disgusted with the way the Tenure of Office Act worked. The everlasting wrangle over a class of offices disgusted even the warmest friends of the law. To be sure they could at any moment have ended the strife by giving in to the President, but such is human nature, they would not, except in a few instances, and then it was by arrangement. The President could get an Assessor by nominating a Collector who was a radical, and so on. Dixon of Connecticut tried to pay off one of his friends who "swung round the circle" with the President and himself last summer. One of Connecticut's "Johnson-Republicans" was nominated to the Havana Consulship, worth $6,000 a year in gold. The Senate very promptly rejected him and then the President sent in a Copperhead. He too was rejected, and thereupon the Senate adjourned sine die, leaving the office vacant, unless Mr. Miner, who resigned, holds on till a successor is appointed. This is a specimen case. Some were different in this respect—that the Senate actually rejected Republicans, at the instance of the Senators from the State interested. The Brooklyn Postoffice camp very near being vacant. The Senate rejected a number of Copperheads and then the President nominated Col. Roberts, a sound Republican. He was rejected because Senator Morgan did not like him. There was great outcry in Brooklyn against their conduct of Mr. Morgan. The President again sent in a Copperhead, one Kinsella, editor and publisher of the Brooklyn Eagle. Of course he was rejected. Then an hour or two previous to the close of the session, the President sent in Roberts. Morgan was afraid to risk the closing of the Brooklyn office, and gave his consent this time to the nomination, and Col. Roberts is Postmaster of the place, much to the satisfaction of a large class of Republicans in Brooklyn and New York. The people will hardly consent that each Senator shall reject Republican nominees because they are not the ardent personal friends of said Senators.

The injunction-cases have been up again in the Supreme Court, and two long arguments have been made upon them—one by the Attorney-General and the other by Charles O'Conor, the great Democratic-Secessionist advocate. Mr. Stanberry did very well, though he was hampered by his position. It was a burning shame that the argument against the rebel applicants for an injunction should be committed to a man who avowed in open court that on the merits of the case—that is upon reconstruction itself—his sympathies were with the applicants. How much more forcible an argument might have come from the lips of a man like Fessenden or Bingham, who could have met the rebel sympathizers and defenders in court as they deserved to be met. Perhaps, however, that very fact—that the Attorney-General is known to be opposed to Congressional reconstruction, and to hold that the Military Act is unconstitutional—will have a decided effect upon the Court, or those members of the Court who have a leaning towards the President.

O'Conor's argument surprised nearly everybody. It certainly was fame. It showed no ability, but possibly that was not his fault. It is not improbable that he could not find the arguments and the facts to sustain his position.

The scene in the court-room was a memorable one. It was crowded, and mostly by distinguished people—Judges, Senators, Representatives, Cabinet members, and the ablest lawyers in the country were there, and many of them stood up from eleven o'clock to three. Why it was I could not perceive, for after trying it on an hour I found all my enthusiasm gone. The argument was dull and there was to be no decision announced—why, therefore, should the crowd stay? There was a strange fascination in the proceedings, growing out of the fact that the destinies of the State hang upon the decision of the Court.

Many people here are asking the question: what if the Supreme Court were to try to overthrow the Reconstruction Act, would Congress submit? There can be little hesitation over the reply to this question. It would not. What the people will do is another question, but the 40th Congress will not submit to any such decision of the Court, for it is a great political question growing out of a tremendous war, and it will not allow a few old men on a Bench to decide the fate of this nation. It is generally supposed that when the rebellion first broke out a majority of the then Justices of the Supreme Court believed in the right of secession. Perhaps this was not so, but I have heard it alleged. But suppose that it was a fact, and the Court as then constituted had attempted to declare the "war upon a State" to be unconstitutional? Does any sane man suppose the President and Congress would have quietly submitted to its decree, and permitted the country to go to ruin? Of course not. The Court would have been "reconstructed," as it will be now if it assumes powers which do not belong to it. However I do not believe there is any need of raising this point for I cannot think the Court will decide that it has jurisdiction in these cases.

The Japanese ambassadors are the excitement here just at present. There is not the excitement over them that there was over the embassy which came here a few years ago, but there is considerable curiosity, especially among the ladies, to see them. STEAMER DAY.

A SINGULAR AFFAIR.—The Dubuque Herald relates the following

Brigadier-General Lewis, of Iowa, fell at Chattanooga, and his son, Major Lewis, was afterward reported dead. The Major's uncle received a certificate from General Halleck, stating that he was among the killed at Gettysburg. By this means the uncle was declared the sole heir to his brother's property. He immediately disposed of it for $1,500,000, and with the money started for Europe, where he now resides. It appears, however, that Major Lewis was not killed, as reported, but had been taken prisoner. After his release from prison, Major Lewis first heard of the death of his father and mother, and on writing to his friends, learned that his uncle had sold all his father's property and left the country. Lewis at length found his uncle living in grand style at Paris. The whole affair was laid before General Dix and some of his property attached. It finally became necessary to procure additional testimony from Iowa; and for this purpose young Lewis left Paris, and lately arrived, in feeble health, at Troy, New York.

POSTAGE STAMPS.—One million postage stamps, carefully packed, says the Boston Daily Advertiser, amounts to three and one-third cubic feet, say the size of a good croquet box, they cover six hundred and seventy five square yards. From the latter figures an idea may be formed of their use for papering rooms, which is one of the supposed uses to which eccentric gentlemen are supposed to put them. One million postage stamps weigh about 100 pounds.

Gen Pope's Recent Letter.

The following is Gen. Pope's celebrated letter to the Governor of Georgia which was mentioned in recent telegraphic dispatches. It will be found a very able and interesting document. Acting Governor Jenkins had issued an address to the people of Georgia counseling them to disregard the reconstruction act and to endeavor to have it set aside. Gen. Pope enquired of the Governor whether, when he issued that address, he had knowledge of his order assuming command of the District. The Governor replied that he had not; that he supposed he was exercising an allowable freedom in the public expression of opinion relative to public matters, and that in the future he shall do and say what he believes to be required of him by the duty to which his oath of office binds him, which he trusts will not involve either conflict or controversy between them in the execution of their respective trusts. To this Gen. Pope replied as follows:

HEADQUARTERS THIRD MILITARY DISTRICT,
GEORGIA, ALABAMA AND FLORIDA,
ATLANTA, Ga., April 22, 1867.

GOVERNOR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th inst., in answer to mine of the 17th.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, D C, April 20, 1867.

The close of the extra session of the Senate gives Washington its accustomed summer quiet Nothing is left here now but the President and the Departments, and as the process of reconstruction goes on at the South I cannot see that there is any prospect for an excitement The only possibility of one is in the prospective journey of the President down to North Carolina in the early summer Seward means to keep his mouth shut (Johnson's mouth, I mean) but he will not succeed, and if he gets to talking Andy Johnson will play the brute just as he did last summer when he went West. At the present moment the President is so far reconciled to the reconstruction going on at the South that he advises prominent Southerners who visit him to go on under the Reconstruction Act and elect members of Congress. I have good evidence of this, and whatever turn he may take hereafter am satisfied that now he is in favor of the immediate reorganization of the South, though steadily protesting against the constitutionality of the law itself.

But I began with an allusion to the Senate It closed the session with considerable "unfinished business" A number of offices was left vacant, and the Postmaster General does not know what to do with this oldes of offices in his department, as the law is silent Deputies have no power to run offices under the tenure of office act in the Post Office Department though they have in other departments The Postmaster General is good natured, and is trying to find power to run these offices which seem to be closed under the act

The Senate got a good deal disgusted with the way the Tenure of Office Act worked The everlasting wrangle over a class of offices disgusted even the warmest friends of the law To be sure they could at any moment have ended the strife by giving in to the President, but such is human nature, they would not, except in a few instances, and then it was by arrangement The President could get an Assessor by nominating a Collector who was a radical, and so on Dixon of Connecticut tried to pay off one of his friends who "swung round the circle" with the President and himself last summer. One of Connecticut's "Johnson Republicans" was nominated to the Havana Consulship, worth $6,000 a year in gold. The Senate very promptly rejected him and then the President sent in a Copperhead. He too was rejected, and thereupon the Senate adjourned sine die, leaving the office vacant, unless Mr Miner, who resigned, holds on till a successor is appointed This is a specimen case Some were different in this respect—that the Senate actually rejected Republicans, as the instance of the Senators from the State interested The Brooklyn Postoffice came very near being vacant The Senate rejected a number of Copperheads and then the President nominated Col. Roberts, a sound Republican He was rejected because Senator Morgan did not like him There was great outcry in Brooklyn against the conduct of Mr. Morgan The President again sent in a Copperhead, one Kinsella, editor and publisher of the Brooklyn Eagle. Of course he was rejected. Then an hour or two previous to the close of the session, the President sent in Roberts. Morgan was afraid to risk the closing of the Brooklyn office, and gave his consent this time to the nomination, and Col Roberts is Postmaster of the place, much to the satisfaction of a large class of Republicans in Brooklyn and New York. The people will hardly consent that each Senator shall reject Republican nominees because they are not the ardent personal friends of said Senators.

The injunction-cases have been up again in the Supreme Court, and two long arguments have been made upon them—one by the Attorney-General and the other by Charles O'Conor, the great Democratic Secessionist advocate Mr Stanberry did very well, though he was hampered by his position It was a burning shame that the argument against the rebel applicants for an injunction should be committed to a man who avowed in open court that on the merits of the case—that is upon reconstruction itself—his sympathies were with the applicants. How much more forcible an argument might have come from the lips of a man like Fessenden or Bingham, who could have met the rebel sympathizers and defenders in court as they deserved to be met. Perhaps, however, that very fact—that the Attorney General is known to be opposed to Congressional reconstruction, and to hold that the Military Act is unconstitutional—will have a decided effect upon the Court, or those members of the Court who have a leaning towards the President

O'Conor's argument surprised nearly everybody It certainly was lame It showed no ability, but possibly that was not his fault It is not improbable that he could not find the arguments and the facts to sustain his position

The scene in the court room was a memorable one. It was crowded, and mostly by distinguished people—Judges, Senators, Representatives, Cabinet members, and the ablest lawyers in the country were there, and many of them stood up from eleven o'clock to three Why it was I could not perceive, for after trying it on an hour I found all my enthusiasm gone, The argument was dull and there was to be no decision announced—why, therefore, should the crowd stay? There was a strange fascination in the proceedings, growing out of the fact that the destinies of the State hung upon the decision of the Court

Many people here are asking the question what if the Supreme Court were to try to overthrow the Reconstruction Act would Congress submit? There can be little hesitation over the reply to this question It would not What the people will do is another question, but the 40th Congress will not submit to any such decision of the Court, for it is a great political question growing out of a tremendous war, and it will not allow a few old men on a Bench to decide the fate of this nation It is generally supposed that when the rebellion first broke out a majority of the then Justices of the Supreme Court believed in the right of secession Perhaps this was not so but I have heard it alleged But suppose that it was afact, and the Court as then constituted had attempted to declare the "war upon a State" to be unconstitutional? Does any sane man suppose the President and Congress would have quietly submitted to its decree, and permitted the country to go to ruin? Of course not The Court would have been "reconstructed" as it will be now if it assumes powers which do not belong to it However I do not believe there is any need of raising this point for I cannot think the Court will decide that it has jurisdiction in these cases

The Japanese ambassadors are the excitement here just at present There is not the excitement over them that there was over the embassy which came here a few years ago but there is considerable curiosity, especially among the ladies, to see them STEAMER DAY

Brigadier General Lewis, of Iowa, fell at Chattanooga and his son, Major Lewis was afterward reported dead The Major's uncle received a certificate from General Halleck, stating that he was among the killed at Gettysburg By this means the uncle was declared the sole heir to his brother's property He immediately disposed of it for $1 50 000 and with the money started for Europe where he now resides It appears, however that Major Lewis was not killed as reported, but had been taken prisoner After his release from prison, Major Lewis first heard of the death of his father and mother and on writing to his friends learned that his uncle had sold all his father's property and left the country Lewis at length found his uncle living in grand style at Paris The whole affair was laid before General Dix and some of the property attached It finally became necessary to procure additional testimony from Iowa and for this purpose young Lewis left Paris, and lately arrived, in feeble health, at Troy, New York

POSTAGE STAMPS.—One million postage stamps, carefully packed says the Boston Daily Advertiser, amounts to three and one third cubic feet, say the size of a good croquet box, they cover six hundred and seventy five square yards From the latter figures an idea may be formed of their use for papering rooms, which is one of the supposed uses to which eccentric gentlemen are supposed to put them. One million postage stamps weigh about 100 pounds

The following is Gen Pope's celebrated letter to the Governor of Georgia which was mentioned in recent telegraphic dispatches It will be found a very able and interesting document Acting Governor Jenkins had issued an address to the people of Georgia counseling them to disregard the reconstruction act and to endeavor to have it set aside Gen Pope enquired of the Governor whether, when he issued that address, he had knowledge of his order assuming command of the District The Governor replied that he had not, that he supposed he was exercising a reasonable freedom in the public expression of opinion relative to public matters, and that in the future he shall do and say what he believes to be required of him by the duty to which his oath of office binds him which he trusts will not involve either conflict or controversy between them in the execution of their respective trusts. To this Gen Pope replied as follows

GOVERNOR I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 20th inst., in answer to mine of the 17th It gives me pleasure to say that your explanation is satisfactory, so far as the past is concerned, and I cordially concur with you in the hope that our relations in the future may be harmonious and agreeable

I would content myself with this answer to your letter, but for the following remark which it contains You say "I supposed I was using such freedom in the public expression of opinion relative to public matters as seems still to be accorded to the citizens of this Republic, not imagining that it was abridged by the accident of the speaker, or writer holding office"

This expression seems to indicate that you think that in some manner, either personally or officially, you have been wronged by that paragraph of my order which has occasioned this correspondence, and that I am seeking to abridge the liberty of speech, in this State, in an unnecessary and oppressive manner

I trust that I may be able to dis

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 5, 1867.

No person not a legal voter in the city of Portland, or who has not heretofore supported the nominees of the Union party, will be permitted to vote

A B STUART,
WM H. WATKINS
Central Committee.

Don't Want Politics Mentioned.

The Democratic organ of this city entirely disapproves of the action of the Republican Union Committee in calling a preliminary meeting to nominate candidates for city officers. It protests against the proposed action of the Unionists, or "Radicals" as it is pleased to term them, and denounces the movement they are making as a piece of "folly." Astonishing, isn't it, that Democrats are not pleased with the action taken by their political opponents? Possibly it never occured to these dissatisfied individuals that there was no thought of pleasing them in this business. Possibly they may have forgotten that the "Radicals" are not in the habit of letting Copperheads dictate their course of action. A most happy circumstance would it be for the Democracy if this dictation were submitted to. No doubt they could manage the Union party more to their liking, if that party would only accept their disinterested advice. In Portland, Democrats are not partisans. Oh no! They think it "folly to introduce party politics" into city affairs. When did they make this discovery? Where do they observe this rule? In those places where they have not a majority. Is there a person in this city who does not know that if the Democrats were confident of their ability to carry the municipal election they would nominate a strict party ticket, and put forth every effort to carry it through by a strict party vote? Is there a person here who does not know that if they were sure of success they would contemptuously reject every proposition to drop party politics in city affairs? If they had a majority in this city their organ would speak quite another language than that of conciliation to political opponents. Instead of thinking it "folly" to run a party ticket in the city, it would consider such a measure the perfection of wisdom. Any Democrat opposing such a course would be branded as a "disorganizer" and an enemy to his party and his principles. Candidates would be selected solely with a view to their political opinions, and the "Democracy" would laugh to scorn any one who should propose to ignore party in making nominations. In what city, town or village did the Democratic party, having a clear majority, ever fail to raise a party test? Such an instance never was witnessed and never will be. Voters who oppose this party will reflect on these things. They will remember the intolerance and tyranny which characterized it on such occasions in former years. They cannot forget that the Democratic party, when in power, rigorously applied its majority to every question great or small, and treated with contempt and insolence the opinions and interests of political opponents. Just so would this party act again if it could regain power. Knowing that it cannot carry the city election by raising a party issue at this time, it seeks to accomplish by strategy what it could not achieve by an open declaration of its intentions. It talks of a "citizens' ticket" this year; but if it should succeed in electing such a ticket the result would be paraded as a glorious Democratic victory. Encouraged by this success, it would put forward for the next election a straight party ticket, and none other. The Democrats of Portland will present a ticket of this description the moment they can entertain a hope that it will succeed. This may be depended on. Every Union man knows it. Their tactics at present are of a different kind, yet looking to this result. Just now they dislike politics. They are sick of politics. They are kicking at politics. Party politics is "folly." So they go to work to accomplish by indirection what they know themselves unable to accomplish in an open contest. They claim to be the sole patrons of every virtue, the only champions and conservators of every public interest. And the paper which is provided for from the public treasury at the rate of $2,000 to $3,000 a year (an extravagance of expenditure hitherto altogether unknown in the city) virtuously declares that "it is time that all conservative men should unite for the common defence of the public interests against the machinations of mere trafficking politicians!" With its arm to the elbow in the public purse, and gorging to fatness with the pabulum furnished it by the ring of grabbers whose purchased favorite it is, it raises a furious outcry against its political opponents, charging them with hostility to the "public interests" and with selfish designs against the public revenues! This Democratic organ proposes to get up a ticket of its own for the coming election, composed of men who are equally solicitous with itself for the "public interests." The people of the city, even the "Radicals", who are made the object of so much invective and whose audacity in presenting a ticket is so vehemently denounced, will have something to say in this game which is now playing to throw the government of the city irrevocably into Democratic hands.

The number of rations issued in Arkansas by the Freedmen's Bureau to whites and blacks, respectively, during the first quarter of the present year, was as follows:

Month.	To Whites.	To Blacks.
January, 1866	47,836	11,695
February "	84,023	9,317
March "	102,204	11,442
	234,063	32,055

We commend these figures to the study of certain Oregon editors who are afflicted with the idea that the Freedmen's Bureau is a piece of machinery intended only to feed a "lot of lazy, idle, disgusting niggers." The whites receiving assistance in Arkansas are nearly eight times as numerous as the blacks. And yet we frequently hear Copperheads railing about the "Nigger Bureau!"

Doleful sounds continue to proceed from the Georgian Toombs, but with some sense mixed with them. He advises his fellow Georgians to remain at home, and endeavor to build up their waste places, which, he adds, were "made so by our indiscretion, and are continued so by a heartless and unchristian majority at the North." It is much when so prominent a secessionist admits that he and his party were "indiscreet" in rebelling.

The Boston Traveller thinks $22 a barrel for flour is "coming it rather strong," and gravely advises people not to eat so much as they do. The advice is probably unnecessary, as there are a good many persons among the poorer classes who will be in no danger of eating much at those prices.

A journal in Georgia says Gen. Grant is the hope of the South. Then his position is much changed since the time when the Southrons fought so hard to keep him from going South.

A lump of solid Montana silver weighing seventy-three pounds is on exhibition in St. Louis.

Washington Territory Election.

In consequence of the failure of the line to work during a considerable part of yesterday, we have only meagre returns from the election in Washington Territory. The returns received indicate the election of Clark by one or two hundred majority if Walla Walla gives him the majority his friends have counted upon. The vote in Vancouver stood: Flanders, 148; Clark, 173. Additional returns show that the vote in Clarke county is about a tie, possibly Flanders has a small majority. At the Cascades Clark has a majority of two A telegram from Cowlitz county shows that the vote there is very close. Flanders may have a small majority. In Lewis county Clark's majority is twenty-three Thurston gives Flanders twenty-five majority. Whatcom is understood to have given Clark a majority of eighteen. Nothing has been heard from the counties on the west side of the Sound. The vote of those counties, with Pacific and Chehalis, will probably give Flanders a small majority west of the Cascade mountains. Walla Walla is expected to give Clark from one hundred to two hundred majority. It is impossible to tell what the new counties east of the mountains will do, as their polling strength can only be guessed at. The indications are that the result will be closer than that of any previous election in Washington Territory.

Cheap Freight to Montana.

We understand that the Oregon and Montana Transportation Company will, in a short time, be enabled to run from Thompson's Prairie, a distance of one hundred and twenty-five miles this side of their present landing, on the Pen d' Oreille lake This will entirely do away with the crossing of the Coeur d'Alene range of mountains, over which all goods freighted over this route have to be packed, thus materially reducing the cost of transportation Goods can be laid down at Thompson's Prairie from Wallula, six and one-half to seven and one half cents per pound, and at about the same rates from the former point to Helena, thus making the total cost not to the exceed fifteen cents per pound No doubt but that in course of another season even these rates will be materially lowered, as the business men of the Pacific coast are fully alive to the importance of the Montana trade; and will leave no means untried whereby they may be enabled to secure a fair proportion of it.

As the distance from Thompson's Prairie to Helena is much less than the distance from Wallula to Thompson's Prairie, it would seem that the cost of carriage over that part of the route ought to be considerably less than over the part nearest to us. Freight is carried from Wallula to Thompson's Prairie for seven cents per pound; it certainly should be carried from there to Helena for five cents or less. The distance between those points, we are informed, does not exceed one hundred and twenty miles.

A CARD.

The undersigned, voters of the city of Portland, take this mode of nominating THOMAS J. DRYER as a candidate for City Recorder at the ensuing election. Believing him well qualified in every way, and desirous of recognizing in a substantial manner his public services and active labors as a private citizen in promoting the prosperity of this city since its beginning in 1850, we cheerfully unite in presenting him to the voters for that office:

Messrs. H. W. Davis, C. R. Watkins, Chas. Hopkins, E Bennett, J. F. Shartle, W. S. Hare, and others:

Gentlemen—I thank you for your kind wishes to me as expressed in your card, and accept your nomination which I hope my friends the Union men of this city will concur, at the meeting to be held on to-morrow at the Court House. Should I be elected, it will be my ambition to discharge the duties of Recorder of the city to the best of my ability, and without fear, favor, or affection, and with a single eye to the best interests of the city.

Yours respectfully, T. J. DRYER.

Portland, June 3d, 1867.

To the Voters at the City Election.

An inference having been drawn from the terms used in my acceptance of the request of some of my friends to become a candidate for Recorder that I intend to run against the nomination of the Union Republican party, to be made at their meeting to-day under the call of the Committee, I have to say that I have no such intention, and shall abide by the decision of that meeting.

Portland, May 5, 1867. T. J. DRYER.

VAST CONTRAST.—What a great difference there must be between the climate of Russian America and the climate we live in; while the former is bitterly cold, the latter is extremely warm, and while other houses in this city sell goods at extreme high prices, JOHN & FISHEL, No. 61 Front street, have come down to the other extreme by selling Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods, etc., at very low prices, of which every person is already convinced, and those who ain't, can be convinced by calling on them and be convinced.

PERFECTLY SATISFIED.—Every one that visits BUSHNELL'S PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, comes away perfectly satisfied with their bargains. The highest style of the art is reached in the beautiful Sun Pearls and Photographs.

SAN FRANCISCO ASSAYING AND REFINING WORKS.

No. 416 Montgomery Street,

(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company.)

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT, CHAS. E. McLANE,
WM. C RALSTON, A. HAYWARD,
LOUIS A. CARNETT.

LOUIS A CARNETT.....President and Manager.
JOHN HEWSTON, Jr.....Chemist and Superintendent.

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and accords to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One-eighth of one per cent. (hereafter a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent. for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent. on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 300@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce
On bullion from 600@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 750@949½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be coined by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co's Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT.

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution.

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 300@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750@830 parts gold, 12 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 830@949½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent., and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the latter have cost ½ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following purchases to equal the returns which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage:

850 per to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

845 per to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

805 per to equal San Francisco A. & R. Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents

PACIFIC ARMY AND NAVY CHRONICLE.—We have received the first number of the new military journal with the above title, published at San Francisco by J. O. Wakeman & Co. In the introductory article the proprietors say that the Chronicle will be devoted entirely to the interests of the officers and privates of the army and navy of the United States. "It will contain all the laws passed by Congress during and since that time, (the late rebellion,) granting bounty, pensions, prize money, etc., together with the decisions of the War and Treasury Departments, upon the different questions arising under said laws. We also propose to give the stations and movements of troops and United States vessels on the Pacific coast, and all orders, general and special, emanating from Headquarters." Besides a number of orders, boards of officers and decisions of Departments, the paper will contain "Military and Naval Directory and Distribution of the Army and United States Vessels on the Pacific Coast," which must prove of value to military people and all others interested in army matters. The general editorials of the Chronicle will doubtless be found to be of interest to most persons in both branches of the service. Mr. J. H. Smith, late a lieutenant in the Washington Territory Infantry, is agent for the Chronicle in the State of the Columbia.

A HOME TO ORDON.—We have before us a copy of a work on Minnesota, of 30 pages, prepared by Girart Hewitt, setting forth the geographical position, the agricultural and other resources of the State and such circumstances as may place the advantages of the State clearly before the reader. It was compiled with a view to inducing immigration, and for that purpose is distributed throughout all the States of the Union. Although we do not gather it from the pamphlet, we are under the impression that the State treasury is charged with the expense of its publication and distribution. A like work would be worth a dozen Immigration Aid Societies. Some hundreds would be sent at a comparatively small expense to every hamlet in the country and would be read by tens of thousands who could never be reached in any other way. By such means all the facts connected with our State, it would be likely to have influence in directing immigration here, might be put in such shape as to have a lasting effect in places where now Oregon is scarcely known at all and rarely ever mentioned.

THE YOSEMITE.—A new volume with this title, edited by Hon. Isaac Cox, has been laid upon our table. It contains the Constitution of the United States, with its political history, a treatise on political economy (which is taken from the early Presidents), extracts from the Federalist, an analytical index to the Constitution, (very convenient and useful for reference,) maxims of law, political definitions, addresses of the Presidents, a manual of parliamentary rules and other matter, a knowledge of which must be useful to every public man and citizen. It is a volume of 381 pages, and is sold to subscribers for $2 50 per copy. W. A. Moore & Co., of Salem, are the printers, and the binding was done in this city by Messrs. C. D. Snyder & Co. It is a neat volume for a library, and should find a place in every collection of books.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY ELECTION.—The returns are not sufficient to indicate the result of the election in Washington Territory for Delegate to Congress; but, we learn from a gentleman who came over from Vancouver on Saturday morning, that the friends of Mr. Flanders were confident of his success in the Territory. The Democrats claim from a much larger majority in Vancouver precinct than was obtained; and judging the rest of the Territory by the votes there, they were rather depressed. On Monday, says the gentleman, there was yesterday morning any amount of money ready in Vancouver to be put up on Flanders's election. The impression prevailed there that the race in Walla Walla county, would be very close and that the vote in the west of the mountains would give Flanders a handsome majority.

WOODEN PAVEMENTS.—The New York Board of Health the other day, reported their opinion that wooden pavements are unhealthy. This cannot apply to the Nicholson, certainly, for no pavement known, can be better adapted to the prevention of filthy accumulations, or more easily kept clean. If New York, like Portland of old, has plank streets or side walks constructed of plank under which there is a vacancy to invite rats, vermin and filth, we do not wonder at the report of the Board of Health. In this city, nearly every sniff of the balm of Gilead stinks, with which the noses of street passers are daily and nightly regaled, comes from those sinks of iniquity located under the planks of the street. The Nicholson pavement affords no such refuge for rats and vermin, therefore, come under this condemnation.

CORN AND WHEAT.—There are at present not less than perhaps twelve or fifteen hundred tons of flour and wheat in store in this city awaiting shipment. The Orifiamme will take a full cargo, but she can take, at the utmost, not more than half that amount. The agent here, in consequence of the pressure of freight, telegraphed to San Francisco to have the Ajax substituted for the Idaho. Before the Ajax can arrive, however, the accumulation of those staples from the Willamette valley, will be far beyond her capacity. We learn that the amounts of flour and wheat pressing toward this city from the interior are immense.

APPOINTMENT TO THE REGULAR ARMY.—A friend who has just got an officer in the 1st Regiment of W. T. Volunteers, has called our attention to the very large proportion of appointments to the regular army from that Territory. There are no less than nine Col. J. Steinberger, Capt. W. H. Knox, Lt. O. P. Egan, Lt. W. I. Sanders, Lt. Hardenberg, Lt. Purdy, Capt. W. V. Spencer, Lt. Wm. Kapus, and Lt. James Halloran. We do not pretend to excellent but one appointment from the Oregon Indian—P. F. Gates. Only two or three appointments have been made from the Oregon Cavalry.

EXPLOSION.—Dan, an employee at the Excelsior Soda Works in this city, was yesterday engaged in bottling soda, when one of the bottles exploded with a loud report, driving a fragment of glass into the left wrist of the unfortunate and inflicting a painful wound. The injury was severe enough to require the aid of a surgeon, but after the wound was dressed, the man was able to proceed with his labor.

THE MARCH CHESS GAME.—The concluding game in the match between the Portland Library Association and the Portland Literary Society was finished last evening, resulting in a triumph for the Germanias. Having won the 3d and 4th games the Germanias are declared the victors in the match. The last game was played in five and a half hours, and was surrendered upon the 24th move

THE LATTER PRECIOUS.—The Senator yesterday, brought down from Oregon City, 3,245 qr sks flour, 92 bales wrapping paper, 366 bags wheat, 1 bale woolen goods, 2 cases boots, 1 pkge do., 2 hf bbls butter, 1 box eggs, 20 bags oats, 10 boxes produce, 2 hf bbls do., 100 sks bacon, 1 case mdse.

THE SANITARY RELIEF FUND.—Mr Briggs, of Wells, Fargo & Co., informs us that a draft for $2,400 was forwarded, yesterday, to be added to the Southern Relief Fund at New York. It was sent to Louis McLane, New York, free of charge.

CHURCH ORGANIZATION.—The Trustees of the M. E. Church met last evening, for the purpose of examining the plans submitted to them for their new church edifice. Two plans were presented respectively by Messrs Bayless and Nelson, the latter of which was accepted unanimously.

THE TANNER TROUPE.—Mr. Tanner, Miss Soledad and Master Wm. went on Monday to Vancouver to give a performance, after which they propose to make a tour of the Sound cities, valley towns, going first to Oregon City.

WELLS, FARGO & CO.—Wells, Fargo & Co. received yesterday by the Commodore steamer $10,000 in treasure from the Upper Columbia.

FOR U. S. SENATOR.—We are authorized to state that D. P. Thompson, Esq., is not, and will not be, a candidate for the U. S. Senate.

CALIFORNIA produced $200,000 worth of strawberries last year.

CONTRACT FOR PRINTING.—The following item from an Eastern paper shows but a single instance of Johnson's corruption. Mr. Wendell is an "Administration" man, and it may be that the fat paper contract aided materially in carrying Connecticut at the late election

The Committee on Printing have about concluded their investigation into the contracts for printing paper entered into by the late Superintendent of Public Printing. Mr. Wendell testified that when he entered into those contracts he was not aware of the quantity of paper on hand, though there was a seven months' supply of such kind. The contracts entered into amounted to a year's supply in addition. Mr. Ludlum, who is conducting the investigation, will ask the Attorney General's opinion as to whether the Government is bound to pay the price agreed upon, and if it has any means whereby it may protect itself against the loss thus incurred, which amounts to $72,000. Even should the decision be against the Government, the investigation will have resulted in a saving of from eight to ten thousand dollars.

Ex-President Buchanan is 76 years old, worth $200,000, and walks a mile and half a day.

HONORABLE SENATOR WILLIAMS alluded briefly in his speech the other night to the Atlantic Telegraph and the great events which had transpired in Europe and America. We are happy to inform our Honorable Senator that if he wishes a good fashionable suit of Clothing, that he is just able to find them herein our city, at Ikerman Bros., on corner of Front and Morrison streets, formerly City of Paris Store, as in any other city of Europe or America. Ikerman Bros. go to the bed-rock of principle, selling cheap for cash.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER,

after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and still wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Stings of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.

Call for the meeting read.

On motion, we proceed to take up business as inserted in the call, which prevailed

Mr Elliott moved that the time of holding the State Fair for 1867 be changed from September 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20 to October 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12

On motion, the above motion was laid on the table

Mr Herren submitted the following rules for regulating trials of speed at the State Fair

1 Any person may compete for any purse given by the Society by offering the following rules

2 All entries shall be made to the Secretary at such time and place as may have been previously designated by the Society

3 Three judges, appointed by this Board, shall occupy the stand during all trials of speed, and all trotting and running, and said judges shall each be provided with a time watch, and at the close of each trial shall announce the time made by every animal; Provided, all trials of speed shall be to rule and such rules shall be published with the programme. But said judges shall have power to withhold award of premiums, if in their judgment, there has been jockeying, bargaining, or private arrangements among the parties entering for the premium offered.

4 A distance for mile heats shall be eighty yards. The distance for two mile heats shall be 160 yards

5 The time between mile heats, 20 minutes, time between two mile heats, 25 minutes

6 Should a difference of opinion exist between the judges in the starting stand on any question, a majority shall govern

7. The judges shall order the horses saddled or harnessed five minutes previous to the time appointed for starting; or, at the expiration of the time allowed between heats, any rider or driver causing undue detention, after being called up, by making false starts or otherwise, the judges may give the word to start without reference to the situation of the horse so offending, unless convinced such delay is unavoidable on the part of the rider or driver, in which case not more than thirty minutes shall be consumed in attempts to start.

8. The horse first entering shall be entitled to the pole, the horse winning a heat shall for the succeeding heat be entitled to a choice of the track On coming out on the last stretch each horse shall retain the track first selected, any horse deviating shall be distanced

9. In all cases of dispute, and not provided for by these rules, the judges for the day will decide finally, and in all cases of improper entries and dishonorable conduct on the part of principals, they shall have power to declare the premiums forfeited. They shall also have power to mitigate the penalty of a rider or driver disobeying these rules by giving the next best horse a heat, instead of distancing the person so offending, should circumstances justify them in such mitigation.

10. Should any horse break from his trot, and thereby gain by such break, twice the distance so gained shall be taken from him on coming out A horse breaking on the score shall not lose the heat by so doing.

11. A horse must win two heats to be entitled to a premium, unless he distance all other horses in one heat, unless it be a single dash.

12 All trotting in double harness, both horses must trot, either one breaking or gaining thereby shall be subject to the penalty affixed in rule 10.

13. Every trotting horse starting for a premium shall carry 150 pounds, if in harness, the weight of the vehicle not to be considered.

Running, the following weights.—A horse two years old, a feather, three years old, 80 pounds, four years old, 92 pounds, five years old, 100 pounds, six years old and upwards, 108 pounds.

2 O'CLOCK, P. M.

Board called to order by the President.

Committee on Clackamas county claims submitted the following report

The undersigned, a majority of the committee appointed to investigate the Clackamas county claims, beg leave to report, that they have had the same under consideration, and find that in the year 1861 there were three several propositions submitted by Linn, Marion, and one by Mr. Rhinearson on the part of the Clackamas County Agricultural Society, to have the State Fair for that year held upon their grounds near Oregon City, which latter proposition was accepted, for the reason that it was considered the most liberal, and that the present claim of $450 is claimed as money that was expended in preparing the grounds, erecting stock sheds, &c, for that Fair. But in the opinion of the Committee—which is well sustained by the evidence before them—that this too liberal proposition on the part of the Clackamas County Society, was accepted in good faith by the State Society Therefore, the State Society ought not to be responsible, or pay the same

W. G HERREN,
D. D. PRETTYMAN.

SALEM, May 28, 1867.

The undersigned from the committee to investigate the claims of Clackamas county, or her citizens, against the Oregon State Agricultural Society, begs leave to make the following minority report:

In the investigation of the case, I am of the opinion that there is a balance due from the State Society to the said county, over and above the receipts of said Society Fair in 1861, and that the same should be paid, the said money having been expended by the citizens of Clackamas county, in the belief that it would be refunded at an early day. A C SCHWATKA,
Corresponding Secretary

Eagerness to Read.

In one of the schools at Newbern, there is a pious old woman of eighty years She had been constant in her attendance and earnest in her efforts, but could not overcome readily the difficulties Her eyes were dim with age, it was with difficulty she saw the letters in the large Testament, and still greater that she remembered them After two or three months she could call all the letters, and she was delighted Their combinations and their sounds syllables, words, were mysteries too great for her to master The repetitions of her excellent teacher was well nigh exhausted one evening, when she said to her

'Aunty, I do not think you can ever learn to read"

"Mity hard, missus; my poor ole eyes dark"

"Well, aunty, I reckon you had better give it up"

"'Pears like I mus', missus. O honey, wants to read heap I"

'Well, I'm sorry, aunty, it is so, but you need not come again"

After three or four evenings the old woman appeared again in school When the teacher came to her, she said, "Well, aunty—here again, are you?"

"Yes, honey, please, I mus' read—mus' hear Massa Jesus speak to me from his Word hisself, 'pears like I shall die I mus' read de Word ob de Lord, I mus',," and tears ran down her eyes like rain

The teacher could not resist the appeal, so she opened the Testament at the fourteenth chapter of John, and read to her with great deliberation and care three verses, and then left her to attend to others.

Aunty bent over the book, and fixed her attention on the second and third verses. The letters she knew, the words were familiar to her, but to pick them out then, was to hear, "Massa Jesus speak to her" After awhile she got the word "prepare" so she could put it to "I go"; then the rest followed by inspiration, and in an hour of the most intense effort she had ever made, she could read the two. When the teacher came to her again, she said, "missus, 'spose can read 'em now."

She began, and with intelligent deliberation read, "I go to prepare a place for you," &c; to the end of the third. The teacher, surprised and pleased, asked her to read them again. Aunty did, with great clearness and propriety.

"Yes," said the teacher, "you have read the words of our blessed Lord yourself"

Aunty's eyes filled with tears, her face brimming with delight, she broke out.

"Yes, bress de Lord! he speak to me—to me, poor ole slave; he tell me go prepa' a place for me; he go come again take me, poor brack woman, prepa' place for me! O, bress Massa Jesus!"

Her heart was full; her eyes overflowed. It seemed to her Jesus had spoken to her.

So those disciples wait to hear the Master speak. We would raise up teachers among themselves, who shall give the Word a voice to speak to this newborn nation. Who will help us?—Era.

AN INTERESTING DEBATE.—The English War of the Roses, a few centuries ago, says the Chicago Tribune, was nothing to compare, in toughness with the contest going on between Horace Greeley and Thurlow Weed. The "Father of the lobby" bought an old decayed evening print in New York called the Commercial Advertiser and Public Spectator, in which he invested $100,000 of the profits of his lobby business; and the only perceptible object of the purchase was to have a paper all to himself, in which he can assail his enemy, H. G., to his heart's content. T. W. pours a loaded broadside into H. G. every afternoon, in "five editions" between 2 and 5 P. M. H. G. comes back at the old fellow the next morning with an equally lawless reply, and so the war rages H. G. calls T. W. a "liar." The latter demands the "proof." The former proceeds to furnish it. T. W. defends himself by striking at the nose of his adversary and making a determined flank attack. Then comes a defense, and rejoinders to replications, surrejoinders to surrejoinders, rebutters to surrejoinders, surrebutters to rebutters, and so on in endless swash of scolding and blackguarding, to the general disgust of the readers of both papers.

The Nation, which has been keeping tracks of the fight, says:

The war has thus far reached the year 1837, thirty years ago, and the precise point under discussion is Mr. Weed's feeling toward the negro race, as illustrated by his comments in that year on the conduct of William C. Bloss in taking the communion in company with a number of colored persons in a church in Albany We have no doubt that the period in which the combatants have now entered, 1837 to 1840, will prove unusually interesting, and will furnish many points in the career of these two gentlemen which we should like to have cleared up Where Mr. Weed boarded, for instance, or whether he "kept house," is a question about which this generation knows very little, and on which Mr. Greeley can, no doubt, throw some light

The solution of the question will be looked for with breathless solicitude by the public. It is a very important controversy which these two old codgers, one of seventy-three and the other of sixty years are carrying on.

THE SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE AT WASHINGTON.—Ford's Theater in Washington, the scene of President Lincoln's assassination, which has so long been undergoing alterations to render it suitable for the occupation of the Surgeon General's Department, is at length completed and open for business. The lower floor is occupied by 120 clerks of the Board and Pension Division, under the charge of Assistant-Surgeon J. J. Woodward, United States Army. Applications for pensions are referred to the Commissioner of Pensions to the Division, where the records are searched to ascertain the kind and degree of disability of the applicant The second floor is occupied by 50 clerks of the Division of Surgical Records, under the charge of G. A. Otis, United States Army. In this division is kept the history of the case of every man that was wounded during the war, specifying the nature of the wound, the manner of treatment, the kind of operation performed, if any, and its success The information is exceedingly valuable in a scientific point of view, and is being arranged under the direction of Surgeon General J K Barnes for publication, in a work to be called the Medical History of the War, in accordance with a resolution of Congress The third floor contains the Army Medical Museum, also under the care of Dr Otis, embracing an extensive collection of anatomical curiosities and skillful surgery, as well as cases that have been improperly treated. There is also connected with the Surgeon General's Department, and located in this building, as adjuncts to the Museum, a photographic establishment, under Assistant Surgeon George A. Otis, a microscopic division, under Assistant Surgeon Edward Curtis, and a laboratory, under Assistant Surgeon B I Craig

FORREST AS HAMLET.—Edwin Forrest, the great American tragedian, is performing in Cincinnati The Gazette, of that city, alluding to his delineation of Hamlet, says that it doesn't exactly know which is the greater Hamlet, Shakespeare's or Forrest's It continues "And yet, as Forrest plays it, Hamlet is not one moment calm Alternately he is transported and overcome by every passion that can move the human soul Instead of coolly uttering his philosophic thoughts, he thunders them forth in tones which shake the theater. Instead of moralizing, which Hamlet was much given to, he storms in limitless fury Instead of punishing his mother by the dagger of subtle or plain spoken words, as Hamlet says he intends to do, he treats her like a crazy ruffian, and when the ghost appears at the close of what Forrest makes one of the most tremendous scenes ever put upon the stage, instead of the whispering awe which we would naturally look for in such a man as Hamlet, he raves foams, staggers, and finally faints. Of course, no mortal audience could sit through this scene unmoved, and at the close, the deep feeling visible upon every face found vent in a prolonged call for the appearance of the master, and rapturous plaudits when he came forth"

There is an ancient Indian engaged in catching muskrats, the skins of which he sells in Windsor, Canada His name is Men-o-mo-ne he is about 90 years old, and says he was with Tecumseh during his battle, and was at Fort Mackinaw when it was taken by the British.

A SLIGHT ALTERATION IN THE NAME AND POLICY OF NASBY'S "INSTITOOT."

POST OFFIS, CONFEDERIT X ROADS
(Wich is the State of Kuntucky)
April 22, 1867

Times change, and men change just ez fast ez times I should like to see the times which kan change faster than I kan, but this last shift which I hev bin forced to make ruther tuk my breath it wuz sudden. The Connecticut clockaman didn't do us much good after all We felt well over it perhaps for a day, but as we begun to git uther indications from the North, we didn't jest see how that little wuz agoin to help us Cincinnatis went stronger abilihen than ever, Chicago ditto, and most everywhere the Dimocratick rooster wuz flattened. The Cabinet, when they heered of Deekin Pogram's assault on the nigger, on the recost uv the intelligence of the oleashun news, notified me offishelly that a repetishon of such loonacy would be equivalent to a recost uv my resignashen, ever the post ofis should be discontinyood "The nigger vote must be capshured It's essential Wade Hampton see so," wrote Randall to me, and I replimanded the Deekin for his recklessness and borrowed $4 uv Bigcom, who is the only man in the vicinity who hez any reddy money, to make it all right with him

We held a meetin uv the Dreoktor and Faculty uv the Southern Military and Classicle Institoot, last month to decide what course that institooshon wuz to take in the great work uv surroundin the Ethiopian and attachin uv him to us In such a time ez this, ez I mentioned to Captain McFelter, it won't do for our institooshons uv learning to stand back. Those great lovers, the matters of public opinion, must be ez progressive ez the progressivest, and must change like other things to meet the requirements uv the times We hev com menst our march into Africa, and thus far hev we gone into the bowels of the land without impediment to speak uv—let us persevere Let us emp cher the Ethiopian stink and all.

The meetin wuz held in the back room uv Bascom's, owing to the fact that it was minus and the roof of the Post Offis leaks I had an appropriashun sumetime since from the Department for repairs, but bein in doubt whether it wuz intended for repairs on the Post Offis or the Postmaster, I gave the printer the benefit of the doubt, and got a new pair uv boots. I used better endgor the slight inconvenience uv occasional rain than go barefoot

I made a statement uv the case, and suggested a radical change in the institoot

Captain McFelter agreed with me He felt that there hedn't bin that complicat, hearty recognishun uv our Afrikin brethren wich there ought to be. He had on several occasions allowed his natural vivacity to git the best of his preodence, and had waded into em alarmin The old idee of Ham and Hagor and Onesimus bed bin so drilled into him in his youth that he had to wrassel with it to keep it in control, and in spite uv himself it frekently got the better uv him He sujested that the name uv the institoot be changed from "The Southern Military and Classicle Institoot," to "The Ham and Japheth Free Academy, for the development uv the intellek uv all races irrespective uv color"

That he that wood answer the required end. The colored gentlemen who chose to avail themselves uv the privileges afforded by this institooshun when it is finished, kin find in this no cause of complaint They are recognized They are given the precedence They stand first in the matter and foremost Wat more kin they ask?

Bascom had a series uv resoloushuns which he desired to present He sed it might be looked upon ez strange that he should favor the conganashun uv free niggers at the Corners, but he had good and sufishent reasons First, he had faith that constant contact with the Board would bring em to the plat uv patronizing his bar, but if it didn't, he knowd perfectly well that the Board and fakulty wood manage to get all they hed, for board and tooition, wich he was perfectly certain he'd get in the end What he wanted was people here—to use a illustration borrored from his hizniss, the offishels uv this Institoot was the tunnel through wich the wealth uv all ov em wood be conducted to his coffers. I fell onto his nock in raphor, and then avowed that I was willing to dis for his good—that I cared not how much uv other people's money run through me to him, of I was thus diluted. The resolutions presented read as follows

Resolved, That the name uv the Southern Military and Classical Institoot be changed to the "Ham and Japhet Free Academy, for the development uv the intellock uv all races, irrespective uv color"

Resolved, That in makin this change, we, the Board and Directors, do so, assertin,

1 That in this emergency we are justified in doubtin whether Noer got tite at all, the statement in the Skripters to that effect bein ondoubtedly an error uv the translators.

2. That of he did git tite, he didn't cuss Ham at all.

3. That of he did cuss Hum, the cuss wasn't intended to extend beyond Canaan at the furthest, and bonse his descendants go scot free

4 That of the cuss wuz really and truely intended to attach to all Ham's descendants, irrespective uv color, to the end uv time, it hant uv no effect in Kentucky, ez that State has allus run irrespective uv any code 'ceptin sich ez hez bin adopted by her Legislacher.

5. That the theory that the nigger, irrespective uv color, is a beast, is a delooshon, a snare, wich we hev always practionly held, no matter what we may, for effect, hev said, ez the number of our latkoes, to say nuthin uv them still further bleeshed in Kentucky abundantly proves

6. That the Ethiopean, irrespective uv color, is truely a man and a brother, and the female Ethiopean, also irrespective uv color, truely a woman and a sister.

Resolved, That this Institoot, whose name is now so happily changed, shel be conducted upon the principles uv strict edwality, irrespective uv color.

Resolved, That when we reflect that the bloated arjistocrasy uv England interdoost and the early settlers uv Massachoosotts sanksbuned slavery on this continent, forcin it really onto us, we bilb with indignashun towards em and kin hardly restrane ourselves

Resolved, That at the tables, in the choice uv rooms, and in all matters where there is a choice, the African man and brother, irrespective uv color, shel hev the precedence

Resolved, That Oberlin College by not givin the sons ur Ham, irrespective uv color, the precedence shows clearly that it is actooated by narrer-mind ed prejudice, and deserves the reprobashen uv every lover uv his kind

Resolved, That the Ethiopian, irrespective uv color, kin change his skin, and that his odor, of he hez enny, is rather pleasant than otherwise

Resolved, That we look with loathin upon the States North, which, allaz protestin friendship for the noble black man uv the cotton fields, refooses to take him to their buzzums, irrespective uv color.

Resolved, That if Massachoosetts and Vermont, and Northern Illinois, and the Western Reserve, in Ohio, are honest in their professions of love for the negro, they will come down with the dollars to assist in the completion uv the Academy,

Deekin Pogram didn't know about all this He had been educated in Ham and Hager, and was a believer in Onesimus. He doubted. Spozen, after all this concession, the nigger should play off onto us? Spozen he shoodent vote with us after all, but cling to his Northern frends Or spoze he shood vote with us and we shood thru his vote to git control, what then? How good we redoose em to their normal condition agin after all this palavarin

Bascom replied thet he wuz surprised at the Deekin's obtoonis First, of they did vote with Abilishionists we wuz no worse off, as that wuz what they proposed to do any how! Ef on the other hand they didn't, what then? The trouble with em now is, they know too much "Let em," said Bascom, warming up, "let em associate with us a year, let em vote with us, at sottry, and in twelve months they'er prodsicly fitted agin to be serv ines unto their brethren "Look," sed he "at the Northern Dimocrisy, and see to what we may hope to bring these men in time"

But little more bizness was transacted Beverly Nash, of South Carolny, wuz unanimously called to a Professorship and a young gentleman uv caller, whom his resemblance to Elder Gavitt, ought to hev bizniss capasity, wuz unanimously elected a member of the Board The yoongun is perfect Ham and Japheth hev shaken hands and are embraosin each uther

May prosperity attend the nupchals and may the issue be fortinate I hev got over the disgust attendant upon the first chill and am consekently feelin well PETROLEUM V NASBY, P M

GEORGIA.—The Bureau Superintendent of Instruction, in Georgia, reports 200 colored schools in that State, and 100 000 colored persons learning in one way and another, to read and write These schools extend over 46 counties, giving from one to seventeen schools to each The total cost of sustaining these schools last month was $6,650, of which the Freedmen paid $2,000, the Bureau $810, and Northern societies $3,840

Addison was not a ready talker. A lady once rallied him on his backwardness in this respect. "Madam," said the essayist, "I don't carry small change about with me, but I can draw on my banker for a thousand pounds" We don't see but he talked well enough then

Annexation Question in Nanaimo

Heretofore we have heard of the annexation agitation in Vancouver Island through Victoria papers The following well written article, from the Nanaimo Tidings, shows the feeling of the people of the coal mining district

The Victoria press is out openly on the subject of annexation, and the two papers representing public opinion in that city, at least one of which shall be first in the highly necessary movement Now Westminster judging from its two ponents, still clings to its old original faith, boasting at out loyalty, and blowing about flags, guns and drum sticks

The language of enthusiastic loyalty cannot for shame sake, be instantly changed into terms of attachment to a foreign State But a little while longer and changed it must be, for it is vain any further to conceal the fact that nine out of every ten of our people—sick of the present miserable look to annexation to the United States as the only hope of our colony Nor is it the reckless of spirit, nor the cold and callous of heart, nor yet the unquiet of temper nor those of a rooted disaffection toward the British rule, who are now so eager to become citizens of the United States It is rather those who would feel the keenest pang in casting off the allegiance to their own country, and blot from the tablets of the memory the thousand endearing recollections of the home and the institutions of their fathers to engage in an alliance with a strange people, whose customs, and usages are not as their own, and in the current of whose thoughts, tastes and predilections they cannot harmonize The boasting lip loyalty and braggart zeal for British institutions are the utterances of hearts that are hollow and prizes by no scrupulous The retention or expectancy of place and pay, or the pandering, for favor from those in power is their only incentive

In times of prosperity and affluence, treason may be humored and feelings gratified, but when stern necessity knocks at our portals, many things have to be done for self preservation contrary alike to feelings and inclinations That necessity is upon us, and is faster and faster gaining ground, and it now becomes our imperative duty to inquire what has to be done Annexation, heretofore looked upon as something in the distant future, is now brought nearer to our grasp, and upon that all eyes are turned as our only relief

The United States will offer to us a government in which the executive and the people are not separated by an impassable barrier—one in which the interests of the ruler are inseparably connected with those of the ruled—and one in which well grounded public opinion forces its acceptance on the government Under that government it could not have been possible that we should have had the caprice of a mere madman administered to us under the sacred name of justice, in spite of the many complaints that have been made and the many crazy freaks that have been exposed, While now we have but one "head center' government, that knows nothing, sees nothing cares for nothing, we should then have that beautiful system of ramification, beginning with the Congress, and spreading as it goes downward through State and county, until ending in the minor municipalities which cover the entire area of settled country While now appointments are made on grounds exclusively personal, then worth and intelligence alone would determine the choice While now justice and right are prayed for and very seldom obtained, then they would be demanded a right, and the more will, caprice, or pleasure of no petty official could ever gainsay that demand A very slight acquaintance with the philosophy of human nature will show what a wonderful effect on national character these differences of practical government will produce. Under the one, dependency and subjugation is felt at every step, and the spirit of noble self reliance is curbed and stifled Under the other, the talents which nature has given are free to expand themselves in every direction, nay, the State expects even the independent politics of every man in matters political and acknowledges him as an important intelligent unit Hence that fearlessness, elasticity, and determination of character which so prominently distinguishes the American people, and endows them with that executive power unequaled by any other people on the globe.

THE NEW YORK HERALD.—This great news paper concern has just been removed to its new building, on the site of Barnum's Museum On the occasion of their moving the Herald had a highly interesting article, from which we make the following extract

When we say that in a few years we expect to receive daily dispatches from London, Paris, St Petersburg, Berlin, etc., and daily quotations of tea from Hongkong by the wires running into our own office, and when we anticipate being able before we are much older to deliver the Herald daily to subscribers in Washington, Richmond, Cincinnati and St Louis a few minutes after publication by pneumatic express, are we to be regarded as a dreamer and a visionary? Let us wait.
